HEYWARD'S THANKS.

HE ISSUES A CARD TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS.

J. M. Norment Secretary—A Full List of the Membership of the New Legislature showing Both New and Hold Over Members.

Columbia, Sept. 15.—Governor-elect Heyward has signified his intention of appointing as his private secretary J. E. Norment, of Darlington, who represented the State and News and Courier in the recent campaign meetings. Mr. Norment will accept. He is a young man of fine character and ability. At the conclusion of the campaign meetings he was presented with a handsome loving cup by the members of the campaign party as a testimonial to his fairness and impartiality.

Mr. Heyward has issued the following card of thanks to the Democratic voters of the State:

It is with a sense of profound gratitude, mingled with an equal sense of the solemn responsibility involved, that I tender to my heartfelt thanks for your trust and confidence as has been evidenced by the votes given to me in the recent primary. From every county and town, from every precinct and hamlet, have I been remembered with trust and honor by my countrymen of our State. With appreciation far too deep for speech, and with thanks that come from my heart, I pledge you again by our sacred traditions and glorious history, by all that we hold dear, to do all in my power to prove worthy of this great gift—the confidence and trust of South Carolinians.

D. C. Heyward.
Walterboro, Sept. 13, 1902.

Following is a list of the membership of the new legislature, showing both the new members and those who hold over:

A FEW WORDS FROM MR. LATIMER.

Senator McLaughlin's Successor Receiving Hearty Congratulations from all His Town Folk.

Anderson, September 11.—Senator A. C. Latimer—they have commenced calling him Senator Latimer now—spent yesterday in the city. He was kept busy during the day shaking hands with his friends and receiving their congratulations on the outcome of the election. The congratulations came with hearty sincerity from all classes and Mr. Latimer was naturally in a very joyful frame of mind.

He was seen by this correspondent in the afternoon and asked for an interview on the result of the election.

"Isn't it rather early for me to talk?" he asked in reply. "I expect it would be better for me to wait until the result has been officially declared.

"However there seems to be no doubt as to my election and I will say just this: Of course I am gratified at the result of the election, and especially so under the circumstances. I went into the campaign absolutely without any organization throughout the State and made the race solely by appealing to the people on my platform and my record. I did not go into trades or combinations and was not the candidate of any class or faction. I made a clean, straight campaign, spent no more money than was absolutely necessary for legitimate expenses and have won the fight with just as clean hands as I started with. Of course I am gratified with the result more than I can say.

"In my opinion the election means, if it means anything, the condemnation by the people of the State of unfair and unwholesome campaign methods. It means that the people of the State will stand by a man who comes before them with a clean, clear record and uses open, fair methods in seeking office.

"I want to thank the people of Anderson County and of the old 3d district, and of the entire State, for the splendid vote they gave me and I hope I may prove worthy of their confidence. This, I believe, is all I care to say at present."

To the State Fair is due the great improvement of live stock in the State, and to further the improvement it is hoped an exhibition of improved breeds of combination cattle will induce our people to breed for beef as well as milk and butter.

CLEMSON POSTOFFICE ROBBERY.

Burglars Dynamite the Safe and Stool Over $250—No Clue to Guilty Persons.

[News and Courier.]

Clemson College, Sept. 12.—The postoffice at Clemson College was broken into this morning about 2 o'clock and the safe blown open by burglars. One hundred and ten dollars in money and $150 in stamps, a registered letter and two registered letters and two registered packages were stolen. A tin box in safe containing $45 and $25 left in an unlocked drawer were undisturbed. The burglars used dynamite and left on the premises a foot adz, a screw driver and a brace stock. There is no clue to the guilty persons. Miss Ida Calhoun, the postmistress, has notified the authorities.

Arrange your plans early to attend the 34th Annual State Fair at Columbia Oct. 28th to 31st.

ELIZABETH COLLEGE.

A Newberryman Writes of this Noble Institution and the Beautiful City of Homes.

Mr. Editor: After our summer outing, spent amidst the lovely scenes and health-giving water of Eupheptic Sulphur Springs, North Carolina, we are resting in this beautiful city of homes, and it may interest some friends of Elizabeth College to learn of its present prospects and appointments for the well being of its student body. This fine institution of learning is situated out of the town proper, but reached by electric car line soon to be completed, and on a commanding eminence giving a beautiful view of Charlotte and surrounding country. This college is complete in its appointments for the health and comfort of its student body. The bed rooms are large and furnished with oak sets, iron beds two in a room, chairs, tables, etc., and are heated by steam and carpeted with art squares, bath rooms in plenty with toilet separate. The culinary department is most excellent in detail. Steel ranges line one side of the large kitchen and pipes convey all odors from the building, coal storage and an old fashioned brick bake oven for baking breads are added to this important part of domestic economy. The dining hall is in good taste, well lighted, furnished with China closets and seats at tables over one hundred. The laundry on first floor is well arranged and all modern ideas fully carried out in this department. But the crowning glory of Elizabeth College is her conservatory of music—a building especially set apart for the study of music. Here are twenty Stieff pianos, one in each studio, so each student has time and quiet for practice; also a studio for violin practice, and all that a lover of music seeks may here be found. A director of music who studied his art in the great cities of the old world, and a corps of assistant teachers whose fame is heard outside the physical boundaries of several States. The chapel has a grand organ and two pianos, with seating capacity for a great number, and the opening day, 19th of September, will see this fine auditorium filled with girls from every section of our country, and we trust that it may be a continued success and are sure that the Lutherans of South Carolina will never forget their obligation to sustain this college for their girls as well as they have that of Newberry College for their boys. To its courteous president, Dr. King, we are indebted for the pleasure of driving over to view its many attractions, and we trust that untiring devotion-zeal in the welfare of this institution and that of his student body will bring to him a full measure of success in the near future as in the past.

Charlotte is certainly a city of homes. Nowhere have we seen so many lovely homes, beautiful green lawns and well cultivated flower yards and magnificent trees. The grass here is so green and rich, the flowers so bright and shade so inviting that it rests the eyes and charms the senses of one accustomed to gaze on the grand Carnegie library dome and adjacent magnificent churches on Tryon-street. The First Presbyterian church has a membership of six hundred and covers a whole block in its territory. The Lutherans have also a handsome church, while the Methodists are justly proud of their five churches, and the fact also that Bishop Coke Smith will live here and arrangements are now made for him. He will occupy a handsome home on East Avenue, and we feel certain he will be delighted with his new home and people here.

The educational advantages of Charlotte are not the least of her attractions, but count a great deal for her benefit. The graded schools here are immense, and over one thousand students in one and seven or eight hundred in another. While the Presbyterian college is so vast in its proportions that we thought it a government building. And that reminds us of the finely appointed post-office and splendid daily system of delivery—mail delivered and taken twice a day, and attention on the part of officials to any request made of them, which is appreciated by strangers especially. Carolina. Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 15, 1902.

DOWN ON CIGARETTES.

A North Carolina Town that is Trying a Radical Measure.

A special to the Charlotte Observer says:

"Elizabeth City, Sept. 9.—Editor Saunders, of the Elizabeth City Tarheel, was this morning arrested and thrown into prison for smoking a cigarette within the corporate limits of Elizabeth City. Recently the board of aldermen of this city passed an ordinance making it an offence, subject to a fine, for any minor to smoke cigarettes upon the streets of Elizabeth City. This morning Mr. W. O. Sanders violated that law, and was arrested. He pleaded guilty. Mayor Wilson imposed the stipulated fine. Young Saunders refused to pay the fine or give bond. He said: 'The law is unconstitutional and arbitrary for a free born American.' Saunders is in the lock up. He refuses all offers of many friends to go on his bond. The result of this unique case promises to be interesting."

DEATH OF COLLECTOR WALLACE.

He Died at His Home in Sumter After Two Weeks' Illness.

[News and Courier.]

Columbia, S. C., September 11.—Col. R. M. Wallace, a prominent Republican and business man, died to night at Sumter, his home, after two weeks' illness. He was collector of customs at Charleston and formerly United States marshal. Col. Wallace was president of the First National Bank of Sumter, the Sumter Cotton Mills, the Sumter Telephone Manufacturing Company and the Sumter Electric Power and Ice companies. He was also prominent in Masonic and Pythian orders. His father was once in Congress, and a brother, Capt. George Wallace, 7th cavalry, was killed at Wounded Knee. Col. Wallace was a Confederate soldier.

A Constitutional Amendment.

[Columbia Special to New and Courier.]

It will be interesting to note that there will be one constitutional amendment to be voted upon at the next general election. In a word it is a proposition by which certain townships, which have issued township railroad bonds for railroads that have not been built, want to get out of the bonded indebtedness. The bonds were issued and got out of the hands of the authorities, but the railroads were not built, or have been abandoned. Now eight townships ask to have a constitutional amendment passed, so that the corporate existence of the same is to be destroyed and all of the corporate agents are removed. In a word the townships are to be wiped out of existence so as to get out of the railroad bonded indebtedness. It appears to be an excessively dangerous method of getting out of a debt. The people in the townships no doubt have just reason to complain, as they did not get the roads, but on the other hand they seem to be bringing on themselves no end of trouble and are resorting to a remedy which it is thought by many will not hold in the courts.

They Come Home to Roost.

The old saying that "curses, like chickens, come home to roost" is true in his way. All bitter, malevolent feelings toward others rebound upon ourselves, disfiguring the disposition, injuring the health and stamping ugly lines in the face. When you find a person has wronged you, let him go. Drop him from your life as quickly and fully possible. Do not abuse him; it will hurt you worse than it will your enemy. Never treasure up a grievance; it grows with nursing.

If you have anything to exhibit at the State Fair send to Secretary Holloway, at Pomaria, S. C., for a Premium list. Do not delay to do so.

THE FARMERS ALLEGE A COMBINE OF THE MILLS.

Meeting Held in Laurens to Take Action Towards Securing Competition in Local Cotton Market.

[Special to The State.]

Laurens, Sept. 15.—Three hundred farmers and business men held a mass meeting here today to discuss and take action of advisable relative to the cotton buying situation as it exists here, there being only one buyer in Laurens, this buyer representing a local mill and two other mills. The charge has been made that the mills are in a combine and there is apprehension among the farmers that they would not get full prices, etc. Port prices are being paid, however.

After a number of speeches had been made a committee composed of farmers and business men submitted a resolution to the effect that the Laurens mill be requested to put a buyer on the square; that failing export buyers be invited to visit the market every Thursday at bonded warehouses. This was adopted with amendment—if there be a combination or pooling interest by cotton mills with a view of controlling prices of staple as alleged, that a committee investigate the matter, collect evidence and report to the solicitor. Three citizens compose the committee.

THE NEGRO RULED OUT.

Alabama's Republican State Convention Declines to Admit Any Colored Delegates.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 15.—The Republican executive committee refused the admittance of negro delegates to the State convention, which meets tomorrow. This action was the result of several hours' struggle today between those of the new regime, known as the Lily Whites, and those not in favor of barring out the negroes.

The elimination of the negro was accomplished through the passage of a resolution adopting the report of the sub-committee which was appointed at the meeting of the full committee on Saturday, and which had considered all contentions and passed upon all credentials presented by delegates throughout the State. When this report was read today not a single negro's name appeared upon it, although on the list of delegates from more than one county there were the names of negroes when the credentials were given to the sub-committee for action.

Immediately following a resolution to adopt the report as a whole there came from several parts of the house protests of vehement nature. These protests kept coming in so fast that at one time it looked as though the resolution could not be passed. However, the resolution was finally adopted by a vote of 17 to 10.

A Self-Made Man.

[Greenville (S. C.) News.]

To the Hon. George S. Legare, who will represent the 1st district in the 58th Congress, we extend congratulations and our best wishes for a successful and useful career in Congress. Mr. Legare is a self-made man. Endowed by nature with that gift of oratory which has made the name of Legare famous in the judicial annals of South Carolina, he felt the power within him even as a boy and determined to develop it, despite the most serious obstacles. In Charleston he cheerfully worked in a humble occupation to acquire the means for his general education at a law school in Washington, he actually shovelled snow and worked in a grocery store during the day in order to attend the law lectures at night. This struggle he made within the shadow of the Capitol building in which now as a Representative from South Carolina his voice will ever be raised in behalf of his people. Few young men have accomplished more in the face of stern adversity than George S. Legare. We predict for him a brilliant career and a long term of usefulness to South Carolina.

The premiums offered this year at the State Fair have been greatly increased and competition will be sharp. Be sure to get a premium list at once.

SPOKEN LIKE A MAN!

COL. W. J. TALBERT HAS SOLVED THE PROBLEM OF BEING GREAT IN DEFEAT.

He Thanks His Supporters in the Recent Primary, But Has No Unkind Feelings For Those Who Opposed Him—Having Condemned His Campaigning on a High Plane, He Has No Apologies to Make.

Please allow me just a little space in your columns for a short card. As it is practically impossible for me to write a personal letter to all my friends and supporters throughout the State, I adopt this method of thanking them for the handsome vote and loyal support given me in my recent race for Governor. I am indeed deeply grateful to them and appreciate my friends and supporters as much as a man possibly could. I have been defeated, but do not propose to be a sorehead and sulk in my tent nor complain at the result of this election. The people have spoken and I accept the situation, and I am perfectly willing to abide by the result and support, heartily, the nominees of the party from Governor down. When my successful opponent, Captain Heyward, shall have taken his seat as Governor, I stand ready to hold up his hands in any effort he may make, or any enterprise he may undertake for the good of the people and of the State. My ardor for the welfare and best interests of old South Carolina and her people is not lessened one iota by my defeat, and I desire to say to those who saw fit to support my opponent that I do not feel in any degree unkindly towards you at all and have no criticisms whatever to make. I tried to conduct my campaign fairly, squarely and upon a high plane. I have tried to be open, frank and honest on all questions that came before us, and having worked to this end, I have nothing to retract and nothing to apologize for, and can't see but I would conduct it just the same if I had it to do over again. But there's no time to look backwards. The people of the State have rendered their decision, and I being a loyal and true Democrat, am willing to abide thereby, and will say in conclusion, let us stand behind Captain Heyward and help him to be one of the best Governors South Carolina has ever had, and be as one man in our efforts to make the old Palmetto State second to none in the Union. Weekly papers will please copy.

Very truly,

W. J. Talbert.
